More Wheat Sale Questions Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators today planned to question Clarence D. Palmby, who negotiated the U.S. sale of wheat to the Soviet Union and then went to work for the nation's largest grain dealer.

Palmby was expected to be asked whether the Agriculture Department withheld from farmers information about the huge wheat sale.

Palmby, as assistant agriculture secretary, was the chief negotiator with the Russians on the wheat deal. Before the sale was consummated, he resigned and went to work for Continental Grain Co., the major supplier of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, which has been probing the wheat deal since March, opens public hearings today. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., subcommittee chairman, has blamed the wheat sale and the resulting shortage of U.S. grain for dramatic increases in food prices.

Jackson accused Nixon administration officials, especially the Agriculture Department, of mismanaging the sale, which was approved last July to supplement drought-decreased Soviet food supplies.

For example, he told a news conference Thursday, the Agriculture Department failed to notify the Interstate Commerce Commission so railroad boxcars could be made available to ship the grain to American ports.

"The Russians knew more about what was going on in this phase of our private enterprise than did our own government," Jackson said.

The Washington Democrat said the subcommittee will seek to determine: —Whether the Agriculture Department knew about Russian shortages before the grain sale. He said there is ample evidence that the Department knew that heavy U.S. exports would be needed, but failed to inform farmers and millers.

—Whether grain companies tried to keep secret their sales to the Soviet Union by falsifying reports to the federal Commodity Exchange Authority. "There is strong evidence that this is what happened," Jackson said.

—Why the Agriculture Department failed to evaluate the need for $300 million in tax money that subsidized the grain transaction.

The wheat deal involved the sale, by private grain companies, of one-fourth of the 1972 U.S. wheat crop. The deal was made on credit terms extended by the federal government.

services during the next two years. Shoemaker said the aid would be in the form of remedial reading teachers, guidance, counsellors, school psychologists, health services, speech and hearing therapists, testing and educational television.

"None of these has anything to do with religion," said the finance chairman who denied that the bill specifically is designed to "circumvent" recent court decisions.

Ohio has had two parochial plans rejected in recent years by the U.S. Supreme Court — one that provided for grants to parents of parochial school pupils, and the latest which would have provided special tax credits.

However, Shoemaker pointed out that the state since 1968 has been providing "auxiliary services" under a law that has been upheld both in the Ohio Supreme Court and by a three-judge panel in a U.S. District Court. He also denied that the apportionment would invite the parochial schools to purchase "unnecessary frills"

Maridan's Testimony Conflicts With Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former assistant attorney general testified today that President Nixon personally asked him to get tapes of White House-ordered telephone taps away from the FBI and into the White House.

Robert C. Maridan told the Senate Watergate committee he was summoned to the Western White House by Nixon after an FBI associate director had warned that the politically sensitive tapes might come into possession of J. Edgar Hoover.

The tapes of bugged conversations by newsmen and employees of the National Security Council were found this spring in the safe of former White House domestic counsel John D. Ehrlichman.

They were made as part of an administration effort to end what it called national security leaks during 1970.

Maridan, in his second day of testimony before the committee, said he was called in early summer 1971 by William Sullivan, then associate director of the FBI under Hoover.

Sullivan "told me he wanted to talk to me about a very sensitive matter. He said he and Hoover were not getting along very well. He anticipated his removal as associate director."

"He told me there were some very sensitive national security surveillance logs that ... were kept in his safe in his office."

"He felt that the highly sensitive nature of these tapes were such they should not be kept there, particularly if he were to be removed from office."

"My recollection is he thought Hoover might use these tapes for the purpose of preserving his position as director of the FBI."

Maridan said he told Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and heard nothing further until July, when he was asked to fly on short notice to meet the President in San Clemente, Calif.

"The President directed me to obtain the reports from Mr. Sullivan and deliver them to Mr. (John D.) Ehrlichman," said Maridan.

"The reason at the time was to keep Hoover from having possession of the records?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

"You'll have to draw your own conclusion," said Maridan.

Maridan also confirmed that "the tapes concerned electronic surveillance authorized by the President at the request of the National Security Council."

Maridan, who quit the Justice Department in 1972 to join the Nixon campaign, also testified that a conversation he had with Mitchell a week after the Watergate break-in made him assume Mitchell had at least gone along with advance plans to wiretap the Democratic national headquarters.

Maridan, a balding, bespectacled Phoenix lawyer and businessman, testified that the first he learned of the break-in was on the morning of June 17, while riding with campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder to a political meeting in Inglewood, Calif.

Magruder "told me he had a slight P.R. (public relations) problem which he wished to discuss," Maridan said.

On the same day, Maridan said, Magruder told him that campaign chief John N. Mitchell had approved a budget for dirty tricks. Mitchell, whose story also conflicts with other witnesses, has sworn he never approved a bugging plan.

Maridan said his involvement in the Watergate affair was to advise other campaign officials on legal problems immediately after the break-in.

Maridan said the testimony of others has placed him at meetings he can't recall, put words in his mouth and attributed actions to him which he believes he never took.

In other Watergate developments:

—It was learned that former White House aide Gordon Strachan has told Watergate investigators that he destroyed sensitive documents from chief of staff H. R. Haldeman's files after the break-in. Sources said Haldeman, who has since resigned, told Strachan to "clean the files."

—Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania suggested that Nixon turn to an independent person or group to advise him on what presidential material and tapes should be made public. Scott mentioned former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., or the president of the American Bar Association as possible candidates for such a job.

—A federal judge sealed the government's evidence against Strachan, who is scheduled to testify today or Monday before the Watergate committee, which has granted him immunity from prosecution for anything he may tell the panel.

—Dean, also granted immunity by the Senate panel, invoked the Fifth Amendment 67 times when questioned by a House subcommittee about efforts to involve the CIA in the cover-up. The House investigators didn't grant Dean immunity from self-incrimination.

Economy Slowing Too Quickly?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic growth slowed in the second quarter, as the administration wanted in its campaign to curb inflation, but the rate of braking was a little too fast for government economists.

The administration Thursday released additional details of its Phase 4 planning, including proposed ceiling price regulations for gasoline that could force rollbacks of gasoline prices in some areas by Aug. 12.

The next big economic announcement is expected next week when the government likely will reveal a tough new program for allocation of petroleum products.

An announcement had been expected this week, but sources said the administration still had not decided how much of the allocation program should be mandatory and how much should remain voluntary. Cost of Living Council Chairman John T. Dunlop said the Phase 4

Age Of Majority Report Accepted By Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Thursday accepted a conference committee report that lowers the age of legal adulthood in Ohio from 21 to 18. The measure is to become effective Jan. 1.

In other action, a group of county and township officials urged defeat of an administration bill to establish a code of ethics for public officials and prohibit conflicts of interest.

The ethics bill, already passed by the House, is being heard in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which took no action. Chairman Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Tiffin, said the bill will be considered again next week.

The Senate accepted 31-1 the conference committee report that lowers the age of legal adulthood in the state. Sen. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, cast the single dissenting vote.

Eighteen-year-olds would not be given the right to purchase and consume alcoholic beverages under the bill. The proposal also retains 21 as the minimum age for police officers and state highway patrolmen.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati. More than 24 other states have passed similar measures.

Persons in the 18 to 21 age group will be able to marry without parental consent, receive inheritances, enter into contracts and otherwise be treated as adults under the law.

Scioto County Auditor Roy Vastine, spokesman for the Ohio County Elected Officials Association, told the Judiciary Committee that a requirement in the ethics bill for full financial disclosure would drive many local officials from office. He said it would discourage other able citizens from seeking public office.

Vastine said there are many restrictions in the present statutes to punish and even imprison public officials caught in acts of wrongdoing.

Chester Hummel, executive director of the Ohio Association of Township Trustees, reiterated Vastine's testimony. He also questioned whether a state ethics commission, created by the bill, would not become another massive state agency to add to existing bureaucracy.

Before recessing until Monday, the Senate passed six bills and sent them to the House.

The bills would: —Extend sick leave benefits to employees of two-year educational institutions. —Establish a state skin cancer surveillance program. —Revise corporate franchise laws. —Authorize temporary outboard motor watercraft permits. —Allow members of city councils to serve as state or county political chairmen. —Permit written as well as microfilmed records of real estate transactions.

regulations issued Thursday still are tentative, and he invited public comment before July 31. They are to take effect Aug. 12 at the end of the current 60-day price freeze.

But it was clear from what officials said that major features of the proposed regulations will be retained, including provisions to require large firms with inflation problems to absorb some of their increased costs rather than translate them all into price hikes.

This cost absorption requirement, which will trim profits, is said to be the major feature that makes Phase 4 tougher than previous control programs.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the country's economy grew at an annual rate of 2.6 per cent from April through June, the lowest quarterly increase since the fourth quarter of 1970.

The growth of 8.7 per cent in the previous quarter was one of the highest since Korean War years.

The economic figures were contained in the preliminary quarterly report on the Gross National Product, a measurement of the value of the country's total output of goods and services.

The report also showed that inflation continued to soar virtually unchecked in the second quarter, increasing to a 6.8 per cent annual rate from the 6.1 rate of the first three months of 1973.

ROUNDTOWN

JULY seems to be the Month of the Baby. The nursery at Berger Hospital, with accommodations for 12, now has 16 new citizens. According to the OB Supervisor, Mrs. Marjorie Rhoads, this is the largest number of babies ever in the hospital. The next was 15 in September of 1971. Adding to the list of July babies were several that were born recently in Columbus hospitals to local parents. Incidentally the boys far outnumbered the girls.

Weather

Cloudy today, showers and thundershowers with a high in the mid 80's. Thundershowers tonight with a low in the mid 60's. Thursday had a high of 87 and a low of 70. Mostly cloudy with a chance of thundershowers tomorrow and a high in the mid 80's.

Parochial Aid Bill Passes In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major bills to appropriate $81.4 million in aid to non-public schools and to create a housing finance agency cleared the Ohio House Thursday before lawmakers headed home for weekend recess.

The action came on a busy legislative day that also included recommendation of a modified no fault insurance bill by the House Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee.

Agreement was reached in conference committees of the Senate and House on other major proposals authorizing a bonus of up to $500 for Vietnam era veterans, and lowering the age of legal adulthood from 21 to 18. The so-called "parochial" bill, by House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, would let the State Department of Education, through local school districts, provide aid in the amount of $143 per parochial school pupil in the form of auxiliary and said he was convinced by committee testimony that the schools need more funding for auxiliary services.

In any case, Shoemaker said release of the funds is left up to the Department of Education "which would have to approve every purchase, every program and every employee." The department could withhold the funds if it was not satisfied, he added.

The bill went to the Senate on a vote of 89-1 with Rep. John G. Sweeney, D-14 Cleveland Heights. Sweeney had sought in an unsuccessful floor amendment to cut the appropriation down to $20 million, warning that courts would not allow the larger amount.

The House committee headed by Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, recommended the no fault insurance bill 14-7 after several months of intense negotiations involving lawmakers, attorneys and the insurance industry.

Under the measure, a driver's own insurance company would pay him for accident damages up to $1,000, regardless of blame and without the need of going to court. Suits could be brought for amounts higher than $1,000, but the company would not have to pay more than $8,000 to any individual in any one accident. A $5,000 death benefit is not included in the $8,000 aggregate limit. The bill would require a 10 per cent roll back in premiums insurance companies collect for personal injury protection. Among its many other complex provisions is one that would repeal Ohio's guest statute—prohibiting passengers in a motor vehicle from seeking to recover accident damages against a driver.

The House voted 67-23 on the measure by freshman Rep. Edward F. Feighan, D-8 Cleveland, to create a housing finance agency that could issue revenue bonds to make construction and mortgage loans for new housing units and improvements in housing for low and moderate income families.

Feighan told the House that his bill—which actually provides for an expansion of powers of the existing Housing Development Board—gives the state a vehicle to deal with its "housing crisis" in the wake of a federal moratorium in the field.

The bill now goes to the Senate. In other business, before the House adjourned until 2 p.m. Monday, representatives passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

—Revise laws requiring the removal of junk vehicles from private property. (79-6) —Provide for contracts between employers and union concerning payment for the use of motor vehicles. (73-12) —Restrict certain uses of the left lane on a four-lane highway outside municipalities. (85-0) The House defeated but held over for possible reconsideration a bill that would permit felons to be licensed as barbers, embalmers and funeral directors.

For nearly 30 minutes Thursday, the committee and millions of television viewers had reason to believe President Nixon agreed to surrender without a fight tapes of recorded conversations between Nixon and key figures in the investigation.

"It is just an awful thing for a very trusting soul like me to find there are human beings, if you can call them that, who would perpetrate a hoax like this," said Chairman Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C. of the committee.

"I think it is a unanimous opinion of this committee that this was a right dirty trick," he said.

The hoax began to unfold with a noon-hour telephone call to Ervin's office.

A woman on the other end of the line identified herself as the secretary to Treasury Secretary Charles P. Shultz who, she said, needed to reach Ervin on an urgent basis.

The call was lost in an attempt to connect it with the confidential telephone number used by the committee staff.

The woman called again and the call reached Ervin and a man came on the line. "I am not familiar enough with the voice of the secretary to be able to identify it and so I just assumed that the person at the other end of the line was Secretary Shultz," Ervin said later.

That Shultz might be calling had the ring of plausibility.

The Treasury Department is in charge of the Secret Service, which has custody of the tapes Shultz had contacted Ervin on the matter at the President's request early in the week.

So Ervin made his announcement and he and Baker expressed their delight and commended the President.

But minutes later White House counsel Leonard Garment was on the phone for Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel.

"Mr. Garment was very upset and told me that no agreement had been made to surrender the tapes," Dash said.

Storms Rake Broad Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rumbled across a broad area of the midcontinent today as hot and humid weather clung to most of the nation from the Plains to the Eastern Seaboard.

Kansas was particularly hard hit as heavy rains and high winds swept eastward across that state and Nebraska into Iowa and northern Missouri late Thursday. A flash-flood watch was issued for the northeastern Kansas.

A roof was blown off near Topeka, Kan., in high winds. Two inches of rain washed northcentral Kansas and nearly 2 inches swamped Hunter, Kan., in a 40-minute period Thursday.

Showers and thunderstorms swept much of South Dakota, the Ohio Valley and parts of the Gulf and south Atlantic coasts. Thunderstorms also struck from the Pacific Coast to the central and northern Rockies.

Five funnel clouds were sighted northwest of the Ogden, Utah, airport Thursday. No injuries were reported.

Hurricane Doreen, with 115 mile-per-hour winds, was located about 850 miles southwest of the Mexican coast Thursday and moving westward. She posed no threat to the California coast, except for possible dangerous surf along the Southern California beaches.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 48 at Grand Forks, N.D., to 95 at Needles, Calif.

Nixon Says He'll Not Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promising to "work right up to the hilt," President Nixon told his White House staff today that any suggestion he would resign before the end of his term is "just plain poppycock."

Speaking informally to several hundred White House employees in the Rose Garden following his release from Bethesda Naval Medical Center, Nixon said:

"Let others wallow in Watergate. We're going to do our job."

Acknowledging that his doctors have urged him to slow down and take more time for relaxation, the President said, "No one in this great office at this time in the world's history can slow down."

Elks Vote To Drop Barriers

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the Elks says he doesn't expect a flood of black membership applications following convention approval of a proposal to end the organization's "whites only" restriction.

The proposal now goes to the Elks' 2,182 lodges for final action.

The vote Thursday at the national convention of the 105-year-old Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was 2,186 to 733.

Defeat of the proposal by the lodges is "extremely unlikely," according to Robert A. Yothers, the newly elected grand exalted ruler of the 1.5 million Elks.

Yothers said he does not expect a great number of black membership applications because blacks have formed an order comparable to the Elks called the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World and would not necessarily want to join a white group.

On Books And Activities At The Library

"Every time man makes a new experiment he always learns more. He cannot learn less." This quotation was taken from "Buckminster Fuller to Children of Earth," a photographic essay containing nuggets of Buckminster Fuller's philosophy about man's understanding of and relation to nature. Cam Smith compiled the essay from quotations from his writings and illustrated them with photographs taken by her.

To twist Mr. Fuller's philosophy a bit, we might paraphrase, "Every time man reads a book he always learns more. He cannot learn less."

Do you know about R. Buckminster Fuller? In a way, he might be called an anti-establishment architect. Fuller emphasized the practical and naturally efficient design over the more popular romantic approach. In addition to Geodesic Domes, for which he is most renowned, he perfected a "machine for living in" called a Dymaxion House. You can find information about these facts and other architectural items in "Encyclopedia of Modern Architecture" published by Harry N. Abrams, Inc.

Brooks Atkinson, dramatic critic of the New York Times for 31 years, presents a look at "This Bright Lan." He describes the enthusiasm of the early settlers for the beauty and spaciousness of our country. He then points out how we are depleting the land and destroying our heritage. He discusses the California Redwoods, the California Condors, the Everglades, the Grand Canyon, and areas threatened by industrial growth.

"Plot to Seize the White House" by Jules Archer is a biography of General Smedley Darlington Butler. General Butler, a war hero, believed that our military interventions were a shield for corporate greed. The biography reveals how the general was approached by a group of wealthy plotters in an attempt to establish an American Fascist dictatorship in 1933. The jacket blurb quotes John L. Spivak, reporter assigned to cover the Un-American Activities Committee hearing as saying, "one of the most fantastic plots in American history...What was behind the plot was shrouded in a silence which has not been broken to this day. Even a generation later, those who are still alive and know all the facts have kept their silence so well that the conspiracy is not even a footnote in American histories..."

In "Young Till We Die" Doctors Doris G. and David J. Jonas confront the issues involved in retirement and aging. The authors suggest ways for retired people to be helpful and busy as advisors, teachers and consultants.

"Sunbird" by Wilbur Smith is a novel of a modern search for the Lost City of the Moon in South Africa.

William Harringtons "Mister Target" is the story of an ex-Mafia man. The ex Mafia-man, an ex-graduate student, and others in the latter's East Village commune band together to kidnap for ransom the Indian ambassador to the United Nations.

New Jersey is the setting for Julian Moynahan's "Garden State." Howard Butler has left his life in Manhattan to begin a drifting existence in a landscape business in suburban New Jersey. Then he is forced into action by a scheme to build a research complex next to his nursery.

A Swiss banker plans a coup that will bring his bank one billion dollars profit in "The Billion Dollar Sure Thing" by Paul E. Erdman.

Even mystery fans learn many strange and interesting things about countries, people, legal procedures, etc. Sara Woods' new novel, "The Serpent's Tooth" is set in an industrial town in England. A 17 year old foster child hits his foster-father with a poker — with fatal results.

A South African police detective and his Bantu assistant investigate the killing of a 12 year old boy in "Caterpillar Cop" by James McClure.

Car buffs will be interested in "History of the Motor Car" by Marco Matteucci. For Bob Dylan fans, "Song and Dance Man: The Art of Bob Dylan" by Michael Gray has just come in.

If we have not persuaded you to read and learn more, perhaps we should offer you another of Buckminster Fuller's suggestions—

"Sometimes we should send people fishing."

Polio Victims Fight Way Back

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A handicap can be more a state of mind than a state of body.

Doug and Norma Van Selow are polio victims. He contracted the disease at the age of nine, she at five. But both went to the University of Illinois, where they met, and received degrees. Norma has a bachelor of fine arts degree in painting and Doug has a B.A. in history as well as a masters in education psychology.

Campus life, though, was even less of the "real world" for the Van Selows than for other students. The campus was designed to accommodate wheelchairs, with plenty of melted sidewalks, elevators and parking facilities.

Outside the campus things are different. "I usually call before going to a new place and inquire about the steps," Doug says. "Anything more than one step might as well be 20."

Most people take parking a car for granted. But Doug says, "I always have to park somewhere where I can get in or out easily. Sometimes I have to take two parking spaces and occasionally it's difficult to get near a parking meter and feed it."

The Van Selows have overcome many of the barriers that face the handicapped. Doug is a counselor at MacArthur High School in Decatur, the only high school in the town that has elevators and can accommodate

Answers To Questions About Social Security

(Q). My 32-year-old sister, who has been totally disabled since birth, has been getting monthly social security payments for over 2 years on my retired father's work record. Will she be able to get Medicare coverage?

(A) Yes, beginning this July your sister can get Medicare coverage. Hospital insurance coverage will cost her nothing, but medical insurance coverage will cost her $6.30 a month. She can decline the medical insurance; but if she takes it, the $6.30 will be deducted from her monthly social security checks.

(Q). I'm going to work until I reach 65 in October. Can I apply for social security now, or do I have to wait until I stop working?

(A). You should apply at any social security office. You can apply while you're still working. Applying about 3 months before you retire will help assure that your first monthly check arrives on time.

(Q). I understand a retired worker getting social security checks can now earn $2,100 in a year without losing any of his monthly benefits. Was any change made in the number of hours a retired, self-employed person can work in a month?

(a). No. There was no change made in the definition of "substantial services" in self-employment. Generally, you're allowed to work up to 45 hours in a month without loss of any benefits for that month. However, if yours is a highly skilled profession, you could be considered to be working substantially with even fewer hours.

(Q). My mother, who gets monthly social security widow's payments, recently received an application in the mail to fill out and return so she can be assigned a social security number. Since she gets her checks based on my dad's earnings record, why does she need a number of her own?

(A). The Social Security Administration has started issuing numbers to all people receiving social security payments who don't already have their benefit payments and social security records straight. Your mother's payments won't be affected in any way.

Finally one federal official has been found who doesn't mind calling the shots as he sees them, and in public. Of course, the job formerly held by Miles Ambrose has been abolished and Ambrose no longer is on the government payroll.

Ambrose was the chief of the Office for Drug Abuse Law Enforcement, and as such the number one drug law enforcer in the nation. In a reorganization move, his office was abolished and its functions combined with others.

Coal: Energy Salvation

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Away back in 1942 Wallace E. Pratt, a Standard Oil geologist, wrote a little book called "Oil in the Earth." It was prophetic in many ways, and when anything new comes up about the "energy crisis" I go back to it with wonder that there has been so little action in several important areas that Mr. Pratt so clearly delineated 30 years ago.

Take for instance, Mr. Pratt's "challenge to the oil man" about the so-called Athabaska Tar Sands, with their "oil-equivalent of . . . from 100 to 250 billion barrels" — more than the total discoveries of all time in the rest of the world as of the year of Mr. Pratt's writing. Mr. Pratt noted that the Tar Sands oozings were "waxy" at the surface, but he said "there is little doubt that as a source of oil they could be exploited commercially today; eventually they may well come to be looked upon as one of the important energy resources of North America."

The concluding paragraphs to Mr.

Pratt's book are particularly sobering, considering the time lapse between 1942 and 1973. Thinking about the German's ability to get oil from coal during the war, he said "the whole family of hydrocarbons" can "now be synthesized . . . from elemental carbon and hydrogen from whatever source. Our own nation possess an abundance of raw materials more tractable for this purpose than the Germans possess. Whenever the occasion arises we too can do readily enough what Germany had already done: make our oil synthetically. The significant difference from our present practice will be the greater cost. Yet the added cost will not be intolerable; to manufacture gasoline from coal will cost little more than the present cost of manufacture from crude oil plus the average tax on gasoline. In other words, if gasoline made from coal paid no tax it should be available to consumers at a cost no higher than the present price of gasoline, including

Ambrose acknowledged lack of supervision was to blame, and added:

"I don't know how I can tell you that some knucklehead won't go off half-cocked in the future. For anybody to tell you that, he'd have to be a knucklehead himself."

But the public would feel less uneasy if it knew the knuckleheads who made those raids and their knucklehead superiors were no longer in positions where such knuckleheaded mistakes could be made.

tax."

If what Mr. Pratt said in 1942 is still relevant, what are our legislators waiting for? All that is needed is a change in the tax laws to get things rolling.

With enough coal in the ground to provide fuel for a couple of centuries, and with domestic oil production running thin, it is ironic to read the energy statement recently presented by President Arnold Miller of the United Mine Workers to the U.S. Senate Interior Committee. "Coal," said Mr. Miller, "has been losing ground recently. For instance, the first three months of 1973 have seen a decline in production of 8.6 million tons compared to the same period in 1972. Oil in comparison has shown an increase in consumption of 28 million barrels."

Mr. Miller worries because oil companies have been buying into coal. But if Mr. Pratt is right, it is hardly strange that the oil companies should wish to have some control over the source of the synthetically produced gasoline of the future. Mr. Miller's fear of "monopoly" of coal companies by oil companies sounds anachronistic when one considers there is bound to be a competitive market for any and all types of energy as our "crisis" deepens. The oil companies themselves, with all their refineries straining at capacity, should welcome any expansion of the use of coal to produce electric power. They are going to have enough trouble providing energy for cars.

Like Wallace Pratt, UMW President Miller suggests a change in tax policy to help end the energy crisis. According to Miller's statistics, there are some 90,000,000 tons of low sulphur bituminous coals in the Eastern part of the U.S. Twenty-five billion tons, or enough to last 25 years, are recoverable under present-day technology and economics. What Mr. Miller suggests is that low and high sulphur coals be blended and advocates a tax designed to force the installation of sulphur removal systems by the utilities.

We are probably in for a period of "overall planning" for energy production. It won't work, simply because of the ignorance that is always exhibited by the tribe of central planners. What is needed is a system of rewards and penalties that will compel the energy-producing companies to react to market realities as single and separate organizations. With profits as the lure, and with tax advantages and penalties forcing new channels, the energy crisis is surmountable.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The youngest of our four children is 17. Not a day passes but that she complains of some kind of pain or ache.

In fact, she seems to pick up every condition she hears about. How can we take care of this problem?

Mrs. E.M.C., Conn.

Dear Mrs. C.:

It is rather unusual for a young person to develop these hypochondriacal tendencies. Yet the morbid dread of disease does not necessarily know a chronological age. Young children have, in fact, been known to reflect the anxiety of their family and friends and constantly complain of varied aches and pains.

The fact that your daughter undoubtedly has been reassured that no real illness exists may not necessarily bring relief from her anxiety. In fact, this may even have added a feeling of embarrassment to her concern.

You can be sure she is not "enjoying" ill health. From her point of view, the symptoms, real or imagined, are most unpleasant and probably interfere with her pleasure at school and in social situations.

Sympathy and understanding, rather than annoyance and hostility, are important contributions to her. A greater contribution, however, would be to have excellent psychological testing performed to see if the underlying basis for such neurotic behavior can be revealed.

Obviously, taking her from doctor to doctor is not the answer. A firm relationship between her and her own doctor is all that she needs from the point of view of her physical condition. It is the psychological guidance that will give her a greater insight into the reasons for her unfounded fears. Slowly, these can be eliminated when the underlying causes are explained.

I always hear an antibiotic referred to as a "broad spectrum" type. Does this have any special meaning? Is this kind of antibiotic more powerful?

Mr. C.B., Ohio

Dear Mr. B.:

All of us in the practice of medicine occasionally forget that our jargon can be confusing to patients. Doctors often use a word so regularly that we sometimes forget that it may cause confusion.

"Broad spectrum" is a descriptive term that refers to the wide number of bacteria that this kind of antibiotic destroys.

When a broad spectrum antibiotic is chosen, it does not mean that the condition involved is necessarily a serious one.

The doctor's choice of an antibiotic is a discriminating one. Some antibiotics have a particularly effective control over germs like the staphylococcus. Others may be effective against the streptococcus, or meningococcus germ.

The broad spectrum antibiotics may have a wider impact on a larger group of bacteria, and are used for this purpose.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You are aware, of course, that in matters economic there is no gospel. The lamentable experiences of the past few years have taught the vainest of theorists that they might be wrong and that they must question.

Here are some of the questions being asked today:

—Now that limits on savings account interest have been raised, will customers be drawn away from the U.S. Savings Bond program?

The bond program has been thriving in the past few years because it offered not only a competitive 5.5 per cent interest rate but the convenience of payroll deduction, some tax benefits and the highest degree of security.

But now some banks will be offering a much higher return. Four-year certificates of deposit may pay 7.5 per cent or more if held to maturity.

In contrast, a savings bond yields 5.5 per cent only if held to maturity in 5 years, 10 months. If redeemed before then, the rate is considerably smaller.

While Treasury officials have expressed little public concern, prior experience demonstrates that small savers don't let patriotism stand in the way of a couple of percentage points.

—Why are corporations complaining about low stock market prices, especially for their own shares, when officers who manage corporate pension funds are sitting on their hands bemoaning the lack of market leadership?

Some companies manage their own funds, some delegate management authority to banks and others. In either case, the corporation is in a position to exert the market leadership it says is lacking.

Some pension funds are believed to hold cash ratios of 10 to 15 per cent or more of assets, suggesting they are waiting for the market to give indications of forward movement before committing themselves.

—Did the Agriculture Department overestimate the 1973 harvest?

If it did, then Phase 4 is going to be a lot more hectic than it might have been. And food prices could rise like leavened bread.

The department, whose record on forecasting food prices is poor, estimates that there will be record crops of soybeans and corn, essential foods for the production of meat, milk and eggs.

It foresees a harvest of 1.5 billion bushels of soybeans, compared with 1.28 billion bushels last year. The corn crop is estimated at 5.9 billion bushels, topping by far the record of 5.64 billion set in 1971.

They'll Do It Every Time

Public Pension Plans Hit By Speedily Rising Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's public pension plans, their costs fattened by political expedience, hard union bargaining and rising wages, are looming ominously over the cities and states which created them.

New York City spends more on pensions than it does on police. Pension commitments ate up 22.5 per cent of the New York State payroll in 1971 and legislators have put the problem on the agenda of a special session starting next week.

About a third of Los Angeles' property taxes go into fire and police pensions. And there are estimates that in years to come some communities will spend at least half their budgets on pensions, some of which were once intended to avoid out-of-pocket expenses.

"State and city officials found it easier to grant workers an increase in pensions, the cost of which would not have to be paid for many years, than to provide them with an immediate increase in cash wages," said Dr. Dan M. McGill of the University of Pennsylvania.

"They left it to future generations of taxpayers to meet these obligations," said McGill, chairman of the Pension Research Council at Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance.

The obligations have mushroomed. The ranks of public employees have increased. So have their traditionally low wages upon which many pension plans are based. Retirees are living longer and workers still on the job have unionized and pushed for greater benefits.

"Pensions are a national disgrace," said Victor Gotbaum, head of the New York City Council of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

"There's no doubt that we do better than industry workers as a result of negotiation The question is, how do you live in this crummy city on $3,700 a year?" That, Gotbaum said, is the average retirement wage for the 125,000 union members he represents.

Public retirees tend to get a bigger share of their pay as pension than do industrial workers. Actuarial studies show a 65-year-old making $10,000 a year after 30 years' work would get retirement benefits equal to $5,000 under a typical public plan. A private industry worker would get $2,500.

Even though public plans together have assets of $66.1 billion—more than General Motors and the four other largest American corporations combined—it's still not enough to cover future pension obligations.

Many public pensions were set up on a pay-as-you-go basis instead of on a funded basis, which is the way most industry plans operate. Under a funded program, large initial reserves are set aside to cover the pension's future obligations.

Experts say the investment income of these large reserves —gains presumably made through holdings in securities— help ease the rising costs of pensions in later years.

Private plans require a higher degree of funding than public systems, according to actuaries, in order to protect themselves from terminations arising from business failure or acquisition. State and local governments, by contrast, are considered enduring institutions that can cover their costs through additional taxation. Government contributions to pension payments, generally expressed as a percentage of payroll, now stand at a nationwide average of 7½ to 8 per cent. Experts say it could climb as high as 25 per cent if those governments switched to full funding with large reserves, although long-run costs would be lower.

Some cities that slipped behind in financing pension plans have been taken to court by employees.

Detroit taxpayers pay a special property assessment this month to satisfy an $18.2 million court ruling ordering the city to bring a bus drivers' pension fund up to par.

Philadelphia, which has a $950 million obligation for future retirement system benefits, has been forced to almost double its pension payments as a result of two court actions.

Illinois teachers won a court judgment ordering the state legislature to make regular payments toward their retirement fund's $1.7 billion debt.

Pension costs will grab an increasing share of the public funds pie as costs continue to rise. McGill estimates some communities may spend at least 50 per cent or even 70 per cent of their budgets on pensions in the next decade or so.

Some unions are now pressing for pensions to be computed on a worker's pay during his last year instead of the more customary average of the last three or five years. Actuaries say this will raise retirement costs by allowing workers to inflate their final year's pay through overtime.

Early retirement provisions also raise costs by putting more people on pension rolls earlier. While normal retirement age in industry is 65, Pennsylvania state troopers can quit at 50. Massachusetts workers can leave on full pension at 55.

Experts say some of the worst abuses are pensions which legislators and government officials arrange for themselves. Frequently these retirement plans allow top figures in government to retire earlier and with more lavish benefits at less cost to themselves than typical civil servants.

Payments such as the $432,890 in death benefits Pennsylvania made this year to the estate of a judge who died at 65 after 34 years' service have moved a watchdog group to note the state provides "extraordinarily generous" retirement benefits to its officials "at unusually early ages."

The excesses, says the Pennsylvania Economy League, "are particularly conspicuous for legislators and judges."

Not all attempts toward government officials handsomely succeed. The governor of New Jersey once vetoed a bill designed specifically to benefit the mayor of Hoboken. It proposed special benefits—three quarters instead of half pay—for persons serving at least 17 years in government who had twice won the Silver Star and the Purple Heart.

"This happens time and time again," said Robert Tilove, of the New York actuarial firm of Martin E. Segal Co. "Much of the torrent of legislation on state and local pensions is accommodation to the special interests of particular groups and even of individuals."

A number of state governments are so alarmed at cost projections that they've appointed study commissions to investigate solutions.

New York, which had the most expensive pensions of any state last year, has called a special legislative session for July 23 to consider redesigning its various plans.

The Albany legislators will consider cutting benefits to new employees and basing pensions on the average pay in a worker's last three years on the job rather than his final year. The latter step, some predict, could cut the cost of police, fire and sanitation pensions 14.1 per cent.

Also due scrutiny is a provision permitting some pensions to be based on an employee's last day of work, a provision critics say enables an employee to reap years of extra pension money through a last-minute "promotion."

Florida, which consolidated its system three years ago, already has run into problems. The state has a $1.8 billion unfunded liability—future obligation for which no money has been set aside. A special legislative commission has been formed to look into the matter. Officials say the deficit arose because legislators did not appropriate enough money when the system was created.

"I don't have the answers," said McGill, whose strongest hope is watchdog commissions will keep close tabs on pension legislation and make sure all proposals are accompanied by actuarial statements on future costs.

"It's a lot easier to combat crime in the streets than it is to keep our retirement system in order," said one Midwestern administrator.

Local Man Assists Navy Recruiters

GARY BOLTENHOUSE

Circleville native Gary E. Boltenhouse has been stationed in his hometown temporarily to work with the Navy Recruiting Office.

Boltenhouse, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hoop, 213 Third Ave., has been assigned here to assist in the local Navy recruiting effort during the county fair.

A 1969 graduate of Circleville High School, he entered the Navy in February 1970. After completing Aviation Structural Mechanic School in Memphis, Tenn., he was assigned to Carrier Air Early Warning Squadron 120 at Norfolk, Va., where he is currently stationed.

Petty Officer Third Class Boltenhouse invites anyone wishing to say hello to visit him at the Navy Recruiting Office in the basement of the Post Office. "Feel free to drop in for a friendly chat about the Navy and Navy life," he says.

BUS INSPECTION — Patrolman David Daley of the State Highway Patrol inspects this bus along with the many other county buses which must pass the safety inspection for the new school year. The buses checked at the Circleville Junior High were from the Circleville School system.

Mermaid Bubbles About Job

MAKING WAVES — Underwater ballet is all part of a real mermaid's job, according to Coralee "Nibsie" Towne.

NEW YORK (AP) — For a mermaid, catching cold is unavoidable. Swimming around in cold water, then surfacing to catch the rays of the sun, her body temperature undergoes abrupt changes. Coralee "Nibsie" Towne, who works six days each week as a mermaid, said that body temperature drops one degree for every 15 minutes spent underwater.

"We visit a specialist a lot," grinned the shapely blonde, who had traded in her glittery mermaid tail for an ordinary pants suit during a New York visit. Nibsie was recruiting new underwater mermaids for Weeki Wachee, a tourist attraction on Florida's West Coast.

"Six mermaids appear in each of our shows and each girl does three shows each day. We perform underwater in ballet at a depth of 16 to 30 feet ordinarily. We dive 117 feet down in our deepest dive.

"The spring at Weeki Wachee is 135 feet deep, but it's too cold for us to go all the way to the bottom. You feel especially glamorous in the mermaid's gold or silver tail, but the other costumes are interesting, too. They're weighted so they behave properly in the current, but if you take off a hat or crown, it's likely to float off down the river," she added.

Born in Billings, Mont., the 24-year-old swimmer was a Navy brat who moved many times as her father was transferred. Now her family has settled in Richmond, Va.

"I started swimming when I was 6, both speed and synchronized swimming. One Easter vacation the family visited Weeki Wachee and I talked about it for days and days.

"But I went to Roanoke College and majored in Spanish, then one summer worked at Weeki Wachee. And after graduation, I returned," she said.

She has worked for two and a half years at the underwater attraction, first as a trainee, then a swimmer and finally a mermaid.

"I practiced with the men's swimming team in college and one year I was amateur athlete of the year in Virginia. I feel graceful and at ease under water. Some people never do," Nibsie added.

Mermaids come in all shapes and sizes, she said, but all are physically fit and all have long hair — they let it grow from the moment they join the underwater ballet.

"Hair looks windblown under water, streaming behind you as you swim. It doesn't look stringy and wet. But we have to condition it twice as much because it is wet so often."

The mermaids train as any dancer would out of the water. Because swimming is so strenuous, the girls are exhausted at the end of a typical day, Nibsie said.

"Girls come from all over the country, and there's even one swimmer from Japan. We're all friendly and spend much of our free time together, playing bridge, knitting, doing crossword puzzles. We don't often talk with tourists and we don't have much social life," she added.

The girls experiment with underwater makeup that won't disappear during the 45 minute show and they've learned to eat underwater, as well as drink soda pop from a bottle.

"You blow out and swallow; it sounds complicated but it works. But eating apples and watermelon gets pretty soggy," Nibsie said.

"One girl lost an earring and saw a fish eat it, then blow it back out and then swallow it again. She never did get the earring back. Sometimes alligators swim upriver, but I've never seen one."

"We can talk to the audience through the glass with a microphone, but it sounds almost as though we're gargling," she added.

Being a mermaid doesn't last forever, Nibsie said, but she isn't sure what she will do when her swimming

GET TOGETHERS — Jeansuits with a coordinated look mix and match for summer fashion fun. She wears the unconstructed jean jacket with shirred back, natural shoulders and high peaked lapels. He wears the short jacket buttoned in front and at the sleeves with knitted back band insert for snug fit. Muted patch plaids pick up the pastels of the dacron and gabardine slacks, cuffed and proportioned for him and her, left.

Vibrant color combinations for any bike path show up in imported linen plaid seersucker jeans, center, with wide belt loops. Togetherness again appears in his natural shoulder, traditional cut, two button jeans jacket, hers with the new trailblazer short zipper jacket with front flapped and stitched pockets. Matching slacks of polyester and cotton complete the picture in spring jeans from Longjones.

Rainbow Girls Summer Projects

Although Marie L. Hamilton Assembly of Rainbow for Girls has adjourned regular meetings for the summer other activities are continuing. Two projects occupied the girls last week, some attended Grand Assembly while others worked selling snow cones during the Sidewalk Sale.

Attending the assembly were: Sue Heffelfinger, Suzi Ervin, Patty Kibler, Beth Clifton, Meri Gay Woods, Debbie Coey, Shirley Moody, Pat Becker, Liz Litter and Martha Dumm. Accompanying the girls was their "Mom," Miss Jackie Layton.

Most of the time on Thursday, Friday and Saturday was spent attending meetings, Grand Initiation and Grand Installation. Sue Heffelfinger turned over her position of Grand Lecturer of District 16 to Nancy Buskirk of the Chillicothe Assembly.

Although most of the time was taken up with business and ceremony the girls found time for fun with night talks, unceremonious showers and shopping sprees.

The snow cone sale was a financial success through the efforts of the girls assisted in the project by Big Bear Store, Lloyd Williams and C.K. Vaughn.

Future events include Grand Reception at Portsmouth on Aug. 4th honoring the new grand officers.

Rhodes Wins County-Level Support

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes met with a group of Republican county chairmen Thursday and reportedly received enthusiastic support of his bid for another term.

"They urged Rhodes to run and win," said Summit County Chairman Gene Waddell.

He said it was the general consensus of the group that Rhodes had done an outstanding job as governor and could run on that record.

"Our only goal is to get Ohio back to number one," Waddell said.

Rhodes, an announced candidate for governor, and some of the chairmen said the meeting was not intended to seek endorsements or commitments.

Following the meeting Rhodes told newsmen the party's gubernatorial campaign would begin with a $25-a-plate fund-raising luncheon here Nov. 10.

Earl T. Barnes of Cincinnati said he did not know if the chairmen's enthusiasm for Rhodes would discourage other candidates from entering the race.

But he added that, "Jim Rhodes is the only announced candidate at the moment."

Rhodes said he intends to hold similar meetings with other county chairmen and Republican leaders.

Counties represented at Thursday's meeting included Cuyahoga, Franklin, Lucas, Hamilton, Lorain, Allen, Butler, Summit, Richland, Mahoning and Montgomery.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Signals Don't Say 'Stay Away'

DEAR ABBY: I'm 22, better than average looking, and I'm told I have a good personality. Although I don't pretend to be "Miss Super Virgin," I don't care to jump into bed with a guy on the first date.

How does a girl tactfully let a guy know this when he doesn't exactly come right out and ask her to go to bed with him, but he just keeps pushing himself on her?

I must be going about it in the wrong way because even though my date and I really have a good time, when it comes to the moment of truth he gets disgusted with me.

This happens on every date I've had lately and I'm beginning to feel like a failure when a guy rushes me home, says, "I'll see you around," and I never hear from him again.

BIG PROBLEM DEAR PROBLEM: Your big problem is the way you conduct yourself during those moments that lead up to the moment of truth. Your actions undoubtedly telegraph the message that you would be a willing partner. Put the brakes on during the preliminaries, and you won't find yourself faced with the "moment of truth" so soon. And by the way, a guy who disappears permanently because a girl refuses to jump into bed him on the first date is no bargain.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year old man who has been a widower for two years. I am in good health, college educated, and I'm considered presentable. I had a wonderful 38-year marriage, but I dislike living alone and I would like to marry.

The problem: I've been out with numerous ladies who seem pleasant and decent and would make fine companions, but they do nothing for me physically.

I am not a wolf, but I'd like a woman about whom I can really become excited. One I can't wait to see again. I don't mean young girls, either. I mean a woman in her fifties.

Can this happen to a man my age? Or should I settle for a nice woman who qualifies in every other way and put aside these dreams of romance? I don't want to be crude, but I would like to know if it's possible for a man past 60 to fall in love and physically do something about it.

READY AND WILLING —DEAR READY AND WILLING: If you are in good health, you are also "able." All you need is the right woman. Keep looking.

DEAR ABBY: May I commend you for your understanding advice to "Heartsick Mother" whose beautiful 22-year-old daughter had an all-consuming interest in another girl. You told the mother: "Let your daughter know you love her and accept her as she is. There is no more convincing proof of your love."

I hope she heeds your advice. My only son turned out to be a homosexual. I was heart broken, but never let him know it.

Although I couldn't understand it, I accepted it. Today he has adjusted to it, has an excellent position in a distant state, and the respect of those he works for. And yes, he has a "special" friend.

Had I rejected him, he might have had many more problems. Before going to his present location, he wrote me a letter, thanking me for accepting him as he is. Neither one of us ever mentioned it again.

Thank you, Abby, for understanding.

Bicycle-Riding Suspect Grabbed By Small Posse

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A bicycle-riding robbery suspect was corraled by a small posse of citizens and police after officers said the man fled on foot and then tried to elude pursuers on a series of stolen bicycles.

Police said the man scooped $260 from the cash register of a Shaker Heights drug store and then scooted away through neighborhood yards—drugstore employees in pursuit—until he commandeered a 12-year-old's bicycle.

Police said the bike's owner and a friend joined the chase, and the thief abandoned the vehicle, ran through more backyards and picked up another bicycle.

Shaker Heights police said patrol cars ordered into the area picked up a bicycle rider matching the man's description a few minutes later. Officers said he had $260 in his pocket.

Coast Guard Seaman's Body Is Recovered

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Positive identification of a body washed ashore from Lake Ontario was made Thursday as that of Coast Guard Seaman James Kewiatowski, 21, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Saxbe And Taft Losers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. were on the losing side Thursday when the Senate passed 64-33 a bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour and extend coverage to seven million workers.

Defining Board Foot

A board foot is one square foot of lumber. The total board footage can be calculated by multiplying the thickness of the board in inches by its width and length in feet.

Thus, a board one inch thick by 6 inches by 8 feet would measure 4 board feet. One inch times one-half times 8 equals 4.

Any wood less than one inch thick is regarded as having a thickness of a full inch for purposes of measuring board feet.

Plywood and other materials that come in sheets are sold by square footage. A piece of plywood in the standard size of 4 feet by 8 feet is 32 square feet, obtained by multiplying the width by the length.

Man Arrested In Solon's Slaying

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A 20-year-old Baltimore man was charged today with the murder of state legislator James A. Scott, the first of two men whose deaths were linked to the purported antidrug group "Black October."

Sherman W. Dobson, was arrested Wednesday night. A .38-caliber revolver found in his northwest Baltimore home is the same type as used in the Scott killing last Friday, according to Dennis Hill, a police spokesman.

Hill said police have not linked Dobson with the slaying of George Evans Wednesday, nor have they connected him with the mysterious "Black October" group.

Majority Age Accord Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An agreement was reached by a Senate-House conference committee today on a bill to lower the age of adult legal status in Ohio from 21 to 18.

The bill leaves out the right to purchase and consume hard liquor, and also retains 21 as the minimum age for police and highway patrol officers.

Otherwise, 18-year-olds could sue and be sued, enter into contracts, marry without parental consent, receive inheritances, and conduct other business now restricted to persons 21 and over.

The Senate called the conference committee up for an immediate vote and approved it 31-1 with Sen. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, dissenting. The House was expected to vote on it later today.

Health Care Hikes To Be Limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fees of doctors and dentists and the rates of hospitals and nursing homes now are exempt from the price freeze.

In announcing this Wednesday as part of Phase 4, the Cost of Living Council said, however, that all providers of health services still are subject to mandatory price controls.

That means that doctor and dental fees are to be held generally to increases of 2.5 per cent.

THE UNEXPECTED

What if you looked out your window and saw an elephant standing in your back yard? Would you think you'd been transported to Africa—or that the zoo had lost a boarder?

Situations just as bizarre and unexpected can happen anywhere, anytime, to anyone. When they happen to you, are you able to cope with them?

Merely attending church isn't going to solve all your problems. But it will help build a base that teaches you how to take the unexpected in stride. And life, when you get down to it, is in itself unexpected.

Start going to church next Sunday.

Rogers Sidesteps Korea Criticism

SEOUL (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that the United States does not like its allies to deny political freedoms to their people. But he said it is not productive to criticize them publicly.

Rogers' remarks at a news conference suggested that in his talks with President Chung Hee Park and Premier Kim Jong-pil he had expressed American anxiety over the curtailment of the democratic process by the constitution Park put through last winter.

But informed American sources made clear there had been no suggestion that U.S. restrictions on exports to Korea of some vital agricultural products might be lifted if restraints on press, political and judicial freedoms were loosened.

"When we have discussions with other governments, we talk over the international situation and each of us generally refers to domestic matters as well," Rogers told the newsmen shortly before he left for Honolulu and Washington.

"But experience has taught us that public condemnation or criticism of other governments is nonproductive. We strongly support the idea that the internal affairs of a country or government have to be decided by the people and government concerned.

Replying to a question from an American correspondent, Rogers said "of course" the United States is concerned when an ally that has received U.S. aid restricts the freedom of its citizens.

But he said the Nixon administration, as a result of a study carried out early in his term as secretary, had abandoned the long-held policy of criticizing other governments and threatening to retaliate by withholding aid if they didn't mend their ways.

Park, 55, a taciturn former general who came to power in a military coup in 1961, revised the constitution so he could remain in office and control the National Assembly. A booming economy, a rising standard of living and the nation's increasing importance internationally created a national atmosphere of acceptance rather than resistance toward the changes he made.

Butz Takes I-Told-You-So Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz was in an I-told-you-so mood Thursday when he spoke of the price freeze ordered by President Nixon on June 13.

The freeze, now lifted for food except beef, was "counterproductive" while it remained, Butz said. It helped push farmers into cutbacks in livestock and poultry programs because it removed or diminished profit incentives for expanding production, he said.

"I think farmers will respond to a free-market price much more readily than they would respond to a price which is arbitrarily set by government if it happens to be on the down side," Butz told a news conference.

The turning point for many livestock producers was last March when the administration imposed lids on retail and wholesale meat prices, he said.

Until then, despite the severe winter, farmers had indicated substantial increase were in store for meat animals, particularly hogs, he said.

The freeze, Butz said, put further pressure on the nation's entire food apparatus. But now, with Phase 4 enabling processors to pay more for farm products and pass those expenses onto consumers, Butz said farmers are free to resume expansion.

Cattlemen said they are distressed by the decision to keep beef prices clamped until Sept. 12. Butz explained that decision by saying there were fewer "pressures under beef prices" in retail stores than for pork, poultry and other products.

Friends Throw Bachelor Party

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Friends have hired an exhibition hall to celebrate the end of U.S. Rep. Edward P. Boland's bachelorhood.

The Springfield Democrat is marrying City Councilor Mary M. Egan next month. Organizers say they have hired the Civic Center here for the $7.50-a-head bachelor bash because "lots of people in the area are anxious to pay tribute to Eddie as a good friend."

Butz acknowledged USDA reports that fewer cattle moved into feed lots last spring and that many instead have been put onto pastures by owners who apparently want to wait out the government.

PRJVS Seeks Counselor And More Storage Space

Negotiations for storage space and consideration of guidance counselor applicants were matters presented Thursday to the PRJVS Board of Education.

The school administrative staff has worked out an agreement with the village of Kingston for rental of warehouse storage space in the Municipal Building, Superintendent Paul Hydell noted. It will be used to store renovated surplus equipment.

A work shop is now in operation in rooms adjoining the administrative offices where the equipment is being renovated. After repairs, the equipment will be stored in the municipal building until it can be moved into the new vocational center.

The rear section of the center is being prepared for a roof. The architect reported favorable progress on the construction which is keeping to schedule.

Job descriptions were adopted for the guidance counselor and coordinator of guidance services. The latter position is presently held by Ray Pack. The board is now accepting applications for the counseling job.

Renovation of the upstairs of the PRJVS office is expected to be finished in mid August. The expansion was required to provide space for the three supervisor interns employed by the board in June.

Richard Neal, Vocational Director, advised that surplus machine shop and industrial equipment of a $60,000 value had been acquired by the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

A number of local counselors are taking part in the Vocational Guidance Seminar now going on at Chillicothe's OU branch. A report on the progress of the seminar was given by Ray Pack.

The meeting was recessed to meet on the call of President Nelson Stevens should the administrator be ready to recommend appointment of a guidance counselor prior to the next regular meeting.

Woman Killed

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP) — Judge Drummer, 28, of Wauseon, was killed Thursday when her car collided with a Norfolk and Western freight train at a crossing in Fulton County near here.

However, he said that cowherd operators have not been selling breeding animals to any great extent. Meantime, the freeze will continue until mid-September for beef. "It will have the effect of slowing down some of the arrival of this beef at the market place," Butz said. "But it is still there."

Worthy Master Fraunfelder announced seven men are needed to work at the gates Thursday of the fair.

A game by Bob Collins, Wayne Cryder and Barbara McKenzie was entertaining. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dean and Randolph Wolfe. The next meeting Aug. 7 will feature home made ice cream.

Man Shot In Rest Area

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Michigan man is in serious condition today in Middletown Hospital after he was shot in the side early this morning during an attempted robbery at a rest area along Interstate 75 near Middletown.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the wounded man as Nickola Kassis, 25, of Westland.

Kassis and two companions—Raja Shahin, 24, of Westland; and Sandra Jones, 19, of Dearborn Heights, Mich.—told the patrol they were sleeping in the car when a man opened a door, thrust a gun inside and demanded money.

They said they told the man they had none, a struggle ensued, Kassis was shot and the would-be robber fled, the patrol reported.

The other two were not injured.

53 Possible GOP Candidates Face Screening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifty-three possible Republican candidates for the 1974 primary will be interviewed by party screening subcommittees between now and July 27, state GOP Chairman Kent McGough said Thursday.

Among the first candidates scheduled to appear is former Gov. James A. Rhodes, who is running for his old job, McGough said.

He added that Sen. William B. Saxbe and U. S. Rep. William Keating, plus some other congressmen, will meet with the recruiting panels in August.

Keating is viewed as Rhodes' chief rival for the GOP nomination. Saxbe hasn't announced his 1974 plans yet.

The party implemented the screening system this year in an effort to head off costly primary battles.

Talent should be used—not abused—and pro football's Duane Thomas had better wake up to the fact before he suddenly finds out the world has passed him by.

We see by the wire this morning that the temperamental torrent of the turf is once again back in the headlines.

Failing to settle down and play the kind of football he is capable of for the San Diego Chargers, Thomas once again has packed his bag, buttoned his coat and is on his way to cast his lot with Coach George Allen and his "Over The Hill Gang" in Washington.

If Allen can do what a lot of other people have tried to do—straighten Thomas out—what a running attack the Redskins will have in Thomas and the conference's leading rusher, Larry Brown.

Thomas proved he has the ability when he led the Dallas Cowboys to a great Super Bowl victory a couple of years ago. Still a young man at the age of 26, he is a devastating runner with the power to hit a freight train head on and not give an inch.

The sad part of the story is that Thomas knows he has the ability, the coaches know it and the fans know it. But there is a big difference between knowing and doing.

Ability is usually apparent from the outside but the real key is what is inside. Desire!

Most coaches will agree that the kid with some ability and a lot of intestinal fortitude will prove to be more valuable than the talent laden kid who couldn't care less.

Any player who has the talent and doesn't go all out hurts himself. But most of all he hurts his team—and in our book this is unexcusable.

We'll always believe that "it's not the size of the dog in the fight but the size of the fight in the dog."

Our "fearless" forecast — National League bats should batter American League pitching in the All-Star clash . . . We like Littler in the St. Louis Golf Classic.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

AL All-Stars Add Ryan To Roster

BOSTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who came within six outs Thursday night of becoming the only major league pitcher to hurl three no-hitters in one season, has been added to the American League roster for next week's All-Star Game in Kansas City.

Ryan, 12-11, a fastballer who leads the league with 233 strikeouts, was not on the list originally drawn up by Oakland Athletics' manager Dick Williams.

Thursday, however, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn granted both leagues permission to increase their rosters by one man to 29 players, and Williams selected Ryan.

Williams, who was hospitalized in Oakland Thursday for emergency appendectomy, said he selected his pitching staff before Ryan pitched his second no-hitter against Detroit last Sunday.

Ryan held the Baltimore Orioles hitless for seven innings Thursday, but gave up a pair of looping singles to Mark Belanger in the eighth and 10 innings and took a 3-1 loss.

Williams, whose Athletics won the 1972 World Series, probably will be replaced as All-Star manager by Chicago White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner.

VFW Nips Savings In Pony League

VFW moved back into a tie for the league lead downing Savings Bank, 10-9, in Circleville Pony League action Thursday.

Hitting for VFW were Butch McFarland with a homerun, Jim McCoy with a triple and two singles with Brian Hannigan, Bloomfield, George Snyder, Cliff Johnson, all with one hit each.

Jim McCoy and McFarland were the winners, striking out 16, walking 14, and allowing 12 hits. Tom Logan and Tom McGuire were the losers, striking out a total of nine, walking eight and allowing 10 hits.

UCLA has won 75 straight college basketball games and seven straight NCAA titles.

Driessen Saves 3-2 Reds Win

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati rookie Dan Driessen was nicknamed "Cobra" for his quick bat. Thursday night, it was his quick glove that saved a 3-2 victory for the Reds over Montreal and brought the crowd of 16,441 to its feet for a standing ovation.

"There's no question in my mind that he was born to play first base," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. Driessen, who joined the Reds early last month after batting .400 at Class AAA Indianapolis, was moved to first base—his natural position—from third in the eighth. His fourth-inning single had given the Reds a 3-2 lead.

Montreal's Pepe Frias led off with a double and Ron Fairly drilled a pinchhit liner toward rightfield.

PCC Ladies' Golf

Hidden partners featured Pickaway Country Club Ladies' Day golf Thursday.

Winners were: A Flite — Jackie Moore and Ginny Hritz; B Flite — Edith Gordon and Clara Burton; C and D Flite — Betty Danford and Gwynne Priest.

Driessen's diving stop and race to the base preserved Ross Grimsley's slim lead.

Then Ron Woods laced a blast to Driessen's right and the rookie backhanded and threw to home plate in time to cut down Frias.

"Those two plays saved me," said Grimsley, who won his fifth straight game and lowered his club-best earned run average beyond 2.50. "But that's getting even for the games when I didn't get any runs."

The victory left Grimsley 10-5—or 24-13 since joining the Reds at the end of May last season.

Anderson admitted the Reds were forced to rush Driessen up when they looked for hitting help during a slump. "We're babying him along until he can get established. We did the same thing with Don Gullett his first year. You just can't bring a kid up and throw him to the wolves. He'd get eaten alive," said Anderson.

"He's going to be one whale of a player. He's got a great pair of hands and showed us that in the spring," Anderson added.

"I didn't think he had a chance at Fairly's ball," said Grimsley.

Driessen called it his best game of the 37 he's played. "I felt more relaxed moving over to first." Johnny Bench started at first base in place of Tony Perez, who is resting a sprained thumb.

Cincinnati took a 2-0 lead off Bill Stoneman in the second inning on Pete Rose's two-run single. Driessen made it 3-0 in the third with a double over Stoneman's head after Joe Morgan doubled.

Montreal's runs came on solo homers by Bob Bailey, his 19th, and Bob Stinson, his first major league home run.

Grimsley allowed six hits, struck out three and walked one. "That's his secret," said Anderson. "He doesn't walk anybody."

Cincinnati sends Fred Norman, 7-9, against Mike Torrez, 5-8, tonight.

Horst Muhlmann Remains Happy With Kicking Job

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Horst Muhlmann gets paid for doing a little legwork once a week. His friends think he has a good job.

But, if his father had his way, Muhlmann would be designing buildings in his native Germany—instead of kicking a football half a world away.

"He wanted me to be an architect. He wasn't happy with me when I decided to become a professional athlete instead," said the Cincinnati Bengals kicking specialist, one of the National Football League's most productive performers the past four years.

"My father was an architect and my sister was an architect," says the serious-minded native of Dortmund, West Germany.

But soccer was Muhlmann's first love from the day he was old enough to toddle after the ball. By his 18th birthday he was starting goalie for a first division club. By 21, he was named to West Germany's All-Star team.

"My former soccer teammates think I have a good job. They have to play all year-round," laughed the 33-year-old Muhlmann, who returns to Germany in the off-season and works as a bricklayer.

"I get half of year of vacation and I've already seen half the world," said Muhlmann, who recently returned to America to join the Bengals training camp.

Muhlmann, who came to this country in 1968 as a soccer player before being signed by Kansas City as a kicker, had his best season last year when he converted 27 of 39 field goals for a career-high 111 points—fifth-best in the league.

His four-year average of 97.5 points per season ranks among the top scorers in the NFL.

"He's a very serious student of kicking," said Bengals Coach Paul Brown. "He's a longrange kicker ... probably as long as any of them."

Muhlmann joined the Bengals in 1969 in a trade that sent halfback Warren McVea to Kansas City. He is a major reason why Cincinnati has suffered only one shutout during those four years.

He has made 88 of 135 field goal attempts, and he's missed only two of 128 extra point attempts.

He compares his job to that of a goalie in soccer.

"You're all by yourself. You don't get it back if you miss one. And they're no coaches to tell you how to kick. Nobody can help you if you are missing. You must do it yourself," Muhlmann said.

Muhlmann has hit a perfect 5-for-5 twice in his career at Cincinnati and scored 19 points in another for a club record. His five field goals against American Football Conference Central Division champ Pittsburgh gave the Bengals a 15-12 win last year.

Muhlmann saw little of a football during the off-season at Dortmund.

"I played a lot of soccer and began building a five-family house," said the father of two.

Lilly Decides To Rejoin Cowboys

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The anchor of the Dallas Cowboys Domesday Defense, Bob Lilly, has rejoined the team at their training camp here.

A team spokesman said the perennial All-Pro would begin workouts today.

Lilly, a defensive standout with the Cowboys since they joined the National Football League as an expansion club in 1960, reported to the camp Thursday after the Cowboys' general manager, Tex Schramm, swayed the 12-year veteran from retiring.

In another key development Thursday, controversial running back Duane Thomas of the San Diego Chargers was traded to the Washington Redskins for two high future draft selections. The transaction ended a tempestuous year for the 1972 Super Bowl hero who was traded from Dallas to San Diego one year ago but never played a game for the Chargers.

Thomas was suspended Monday by San Diego Coach Harland Svare after the player reported late to camp. He was reinstated Wednesday following an undisclosed fine but Svare decided to trade him after Thomas displayed a lackluster performance during Thursday's drill.

Lilly said he had no problems with his two-year, $700,000 contract, and added that he had had doubts about his physical condition, "back ... knee, but they have given me no trouble," he added. The former Texas Christian University All-American was reportedly unhappy with the team morale. Earlier this season he and other veteran players, Dave Manders, Lee Roy Jordan, Craig Morton, Jethro Pugh and Pat Toomay and the Cowboy management had differences of opinion on salary negotiations.

Manders, the Cowboys' center, retired, and defensive end Pat Toomay signed Monday afternoon. Lilly linemate, Jethro Pugh, and linebacker Lee Roy Jordan still had not signed contracts. Quarterback Craig Morton still has not signed either. He's not in camp.

Elsewhere, veteran tight end Marv Fleming of the Miami Dolphins ended his holdout but running back Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins continued his.

Fleming, who had been fined $200 a day for the eight days he had held out, walked into the Dolphins' training camp after signing a lucrative three-year contract.

That left all-pro safety Jake Scott as the only player missing from the National Football League champions' camp because of a contract dispute.

Brown, the NFL's most valuable player in 1972, was absent from the Redskins' Carlisle, Pa. training site for the fourth day Thursday, and Washington Coach George Allen emphasized that the $300-a-day fine he has levied on Brown would stick.

Brown says he has not reported because the Redskins have declined to discuss a future contract with him, after his present pact expires at the end of this year. Allen said he wouldn't discuss the matter, while Skins President Edward Bennett Williams has said he would not negotiate with Brown or his agent until the star running back reports to training camp.

Baltimore Destroys Ryan No-Hitter

ANAHEIM (AP) — Nolan Ryan missed his chance for two straight no-hitters with just six outs to go, yet the flame-throwing right-hander figures he still has a chance at a record third one this season.

Ryan no-hit Kansas City early in the season and did it at Detroit last Sunday. He hadn't allowed a hit by Baltimore Thursday night until Mark Belanger looped a single over the infield with none out in the eighth.

Baltimore eventually won the game 3-1 in 11 innings, putting Ryan's record at only 11-12 on the day he had been selected to the American League All-Star squad.

Nolan wasn't in the game at the finish, having been taken out by Manager Bobby Winkles after Tommy Davis doubled with one out in the top of the 11th. Dave Sells gave up a two-run double to Terry Crowley and that meant the game.

Asked if he had gone after the second straight no-hitter, Ryan answered readily, "I went into the game to give it my best shot. What the heck, it's not too often you get a chance like that."

Asked if he'd previously spoiled a no-hitter late in the game, Belanger—who went into the game hitting .214—laughed, "Spoil a no-hitter. Heck I have trouble getting a hit but if anybody was going to spoil it, I'm glad it was me."

Ryan has recorded 41 strikeouts in his last three games, setting an American League record and equalling the major league mark held by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

His 30 strikeouts in his last two games tie the American League record held by Sam McDowell. Ryan, who topped the majors with 329 strikeouts last season, leads both leagues with 233 this year.

The turnout for his first pitching appearance since the Detroit no-hitter was the largest for the Angels on a non-promotion night since September of 1968. And in 42 dates at home, they have drawn 623,233, an increase of 193,588 over a similar period in 1972.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 6-2 and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Texas Rangers 4-1.

In the only National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers ripped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, the Chicago Cubs trounced the San Diego Padres 12-5 and the Cincinnati Reds edged the Montreal Expos 3-2.

Twins 6, Red Sox 2

Rod Carew doubled home the tie-breaking run with two out in the eighth inning and Bobby Darwin added a bases-loaded triple following an intentional walk to Tony Oliva, pacing the Twins over the Red Sox.

Joe Decker pitched a five-hitter for Minnesota.

Brewers 4, Rangers 1

Milwaukee's Skip Lockwood held Texas hitless for six innings and then needed relief help from Eduardo Rodriguez in the seventh to protect the Brewers' victory over the Rangers. Darrell Porter drove in two Milwaukee runs with a double and triple.

Dodgers 3, Cardinals 2

Al Downing maintained his mastery over St. Louis by throttling the Cardinals on three hits in pitching the Dodgers to their victory with last-out help from Jim Brewer.

The sizzling Dodgers won for the 11th time in their last 13 baseball games on the strength of a tie-breaking two-run third inning against Alan Foster.

Cubs 12, Padres 5

Jose Cardenal slammed a three-run double and a solo homer, helping the Cubs erase a 4-0 deficit and snap a six-game losing streak by beating the Padres. Five unearned runs in the sixth also helped the Cubs increase their National League East lead over St. Louis to 1½ games.

The Padres scored four runs in the first inning, three on Clarence Gaston's homer.

Reds 3, Expos 2

Pete Rose put Cincinnati in front with a two-run single in the second inning and Dan Driessen singled home what proved to be the winning run in the third and the Reds went on to defeat the Expos. Ross Grimsley

Demo Baseballers Bug Republicans

BALTIMORE (AP) — After losing nine straight decisions in the annual congressional baseball game, the Democrats are out to bug their Republican opponents prior to the 1973 game.

In a letter to his players, addressed "Dear Slugger," the captain of the Democrats, Rep. Frank M. Clark of Pennsylvania, boasts of a secret weapon for the July 30 contest in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

Clark, who has managed the last six losses in a series which stands 10-1 in favor of the Republicans, advised his teammates that Democrat pitchers Henry Gonzalez and Ron Dellums, "are developing a new pitch called the 'Watergate Blooper.'"

"The baseball starts out low and slowly rises until it reaches the batter and then explodes, scattering fragments in different directions, with each fragment wanting no part of the inner core."

"It is alleged that if the Republicans can hit that pitch," Clark wrote, "they will be awarded $350,000 in washed cash by a nondescript laundry company representing an alien investment corporation."

In a letter to the Republican players, the GOP manager, Rep. Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, conceded "it's been a controversial year already."

But, Conte said, "there will be no controversy when it comes to the GOP victory over the Democrats."

He said a freshman player was welcome, "If you can fire a ball the distance from your new desk to that of your appointment secretary, if you can field a grounder with a glove, stomach, chest, shin, etc., and if you can run to the floor for a rollover without the aid of the U.S. Capitol Police Force."

The winning pitcher for all 10 Republican victories has been Rep. Robert Michel of Illinois, a former varsity baseball player at Bradley University.

Michel hurled a no-hitter in the 1962 inaugural game. The Democrats won the following year, but the GOP hasn't been defeated since.

The game will start at 6:30 p.m., and last until 7:45, or 30 minutes prior to the regularly scheduled contest between the Baltimore Orioles and the Detroit Tigers.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rising Wind and Darmiss won the two divisions of the $16,324 Scarlet and Gray Cup feature at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

Rising Wind led most of the way in the first division and won by a nose in 2:08 3-5 to return $6.60, $3.80 and $2.60. Parlay R.C. paid $3.40 and $2.60 for second and King Drexel, $3 for show.

Darmiss held the lead from wire to wire in the second division for a 2¼-length victory in 2:05 1-5, and paid $14.60, $4.40 and $2.80. Fuzzy Thurston was worth $12.40 and $5.20 for second and Some Picture, $4.20 for show.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The two-day Ohio State Tractor Pull begins Aug. 31 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds with a total purse of $13,520.

The competition will feature 5,000, 7,000 and 12,000 Super Stock and Modified classes along with a 12,000 pound Open class.

Reaction Mixed To Economic Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Some leading economic experts find more to worry about than welcome in the fourth phase of President Nixon's economic controls program.

The reservation voiced most frequently following announcement of the Phase 4 structure late Wednesday: The plan treats some of the symptoms but fails to get down to the source of inflationary problems.

"My major reaction is total disappointment," declared Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon economic adviser who now heads a consulting firm. "It treats the evidence of inflation rather than the problem of inflation."

Wall Street, on the other hand, greeted the proposed plan with general approval.

And the initial response from organized labor was mixed, with United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock saying Phase 4 is "something we can live with. Under all the circumstances, it makes a great deal of sense for the American economy."

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO declined immediate comment.

The secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Patrick E. Gorman, called it "a new summer offensive against consumers." He said, "Now its Phase 4, and so far as consumers and food workers are concerned, we say, 'So, what's new?'"

Many top corporate officials were withholding comment until they could study the impact of the complex controls on their industries.

Rinfret maintained that the administration in its latest move had admitted for the first time that "it cannot control inflation, only moderate it."

Baker Beltline Held By Safety Pin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican on the Senate Watergate committee has been confidently facing millions of television viewers, his trousers held up by a safety pin.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., has lost some 30 pounds on a new diet and his clothes hang loosely on him.

Baker gained the weight in his 1972 Senate campaign, thanks to Tennessee's political hospitality.

"The hostesses had been out for weeks getting things ready and Howard just couldn't say no," explained his wife, Joy.

John Kenneth Galbraith, ambassador to India under former President John F. Kennedy and one of his economic advisers, said Phase 4 was "all right as far as it goes." But he added: "It leaves the enormous problem that the price controls are still in the hands of people who don't believe in them."

City Switches To Monthly Billing For Water, Sewer

Problems in switching from manual billing operations to computer has delayed delivery of July water and sewage bills.

Charles Taylor, manager of the Department of Public Utilities for Circleville, offered his apologies, citing unexpected problems as the cause of the delay.

Residents of Zone 1, roughly the area south of Main St., have already received their bills. The amounts posted on the card will be for a three month period.

Next to be billed will be Zone 2, Taylor explained. Since this group was billed in June, the cost of water and sewage reported on the bills will be for only one month. Zone 2 covers an area from Main St. to Northridge Road.

Last to go out this month will be the bills for Zone 3, which includes the area north of Northridge Road and the Isaac Addition. Residents of this district will receive a bill for two months.

In August, and in all following months, bills will be received monthly by all city residents.

"People can identify their zones by looking at their account number," Taylor explains. The first figure is the zone number.

Questions have also been received about the "gross" and "net" boxes on the bill and what they mean. The net price shown is the amount of the bill. The gross amount in the adjoining box indicates the amount due if not paid by the next billing date. It includes a ten per cent penalty.

Beginning August, the department plans to have bills to zone 1 out by the first day of the month. They will be due between the first and tenth of the month.

Zone 2 will be billed by the tenth in the future with payment due within 10 days. Zone 3 bills will be mailed by the twentieth day of the month and due by the end of the month.

Meters will be read every three months, so residents will receive two estimated bills between readings. To show that the bill has been estimated, the code letters "ES" will appear in the box under the asterisk on the line with the water and sewage rates.

"We ask citizens to keep a close watch on their bills," Taylor said, "and to keep an eye out for leaks." He advised that toilet leaks were the primary cause of high water bills.

"People notice a faucet leak more easily and tend to have it fixed, but pay little attention whether the toilet is constantly running," the director said. He advised that state law holds a property owner responsible for any leaks between the street curb and the house and inside the house. So the resident is required to pay for the water lost through leaks.

What are some of the difficulties with the new computerized system? "We're a small organization," Taylor noted, "and for years we were dividing meter rates into halves or thirds for people sharing the same home that had only one meter. The computer can't divide its computation."

"Some places have water, but are not connected to the city sewer. The computer automatically adds the sewage rate on," Taylor asks residents to please note this difference when the first bill is paid and the item will be corrected.

Other local businesses or residences are connected only to the sewer system. They are now required to meter their well water so a sewer rate can be figured. Recirculation of water by factories has also required additional metering to allow the system to work.

"We ask that our customers be patient during our changeover. The many small problems which have arisen will be worked out," said Taylor.

Motel Swimming Pool Claims Little Girl

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A drowning at a busy motel swimming pool claimed the life of a 5-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., girl Thursday, according to the Hamilton County Sheriff's Patrol.

The body of Sharon Fox was found in 10 feet of water after a young boy reported seeing it. The pool lifeguard was notified, but life-saving attempts failed.

IRA Commander Nabbed By British

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army in Belfast was reported in disarray today following the capture of its local commander and 16 of his men.

The guerrillas struck back outside the capital, killing a militiaman and blowing up a tavern.

The militiaman was the 851st confirmed death in the four years of warfare between Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority and its Protestant majority.

A British Army sweep Thursday rounded up 14 IRA men here. They included 24-year-old Gerry Adams, the commander of the guerrillas' Belfast brigade, and the entire command of one of his battalions. Adams was one of the men most wanted by the British.

Three more IRA men were captured as they tried to flee by car across the border into the Irish Republic. One was believed to be a member of Adams' brigade staff.

It was the biggest troop operation against the IRA since Operation Motorman a year ago, when armored units tore down the IRA barricades around Roman Catholic districts in Belfast and Londonderry.

Dragnets by security forces since then have scooped up about 300 IRA members, including dozens of brigade officers and battalion and company commanders.

Adams was outranked only by Chief of Staff Seamus Twomey and political strategist David O'Connell in Dublin. His capture with so many of his top men "hit the IRA where it hurts," one British officer at headquarters boasted.

A squad of soldiers grabbed Adams as he was eating lunch in a house in the Catholic Falls Road district with two of his staff, Tom Cahill, 38, and Brendan Hughes, a 23-year-old bomb expert. The army said Adams was fingered either by an informer or undercover military agents but wouldn't say which.

Marine commandos rounded up another half dozen men in the New Lodge quarter. They reportedly included Hugh McCann, a battalion commander, and his staff.

The roundup may help to quiet hardline Protestants who have been demanding tougher measures against the mostly Catholic IRA. That in turn could help Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, get the newly elected provincial assembly going after weeks of refusal by the hardliners to cooperate with moderate Catholic and Protestant politicians.

VA To Have Extensive Job Recreating Burned Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration says it expects relatively few applications for veterans' benefits to be affected by the fire at the military record center near St. Louis because it has backup records.

And Chairman Vance Hartke, D-Ind., of the Senate Committee on Veteran Affairs, said: "We will take whatever steps are necessary to assure that American veterans are not adversely affected by the tragedy."

"I am confident the Senate will pass any necessary legislation introduced to make certain that any veteran whose records have been permanently destroyed will receive every benefit to which he or she is entitled," Hartke said.

He asked his committee staff to investigate immediately the extent of problems resulting from the fire.

The fire is certain to delay processing of applications for such things as reserve retirements and for replacement of lost discharge papers. Workers at the center have been on administrative leave since the fire a week ago. Their leave ends July 25.

The regional administrator for the General Services Administration, which has charge of the block-long structure, said he didn't know exactly when work will resume.

"That won't come until after a detailed assessment of the building's structure," said Jeffrey Hillelson.

The fire that took three days to put out was confined to the top floor of the six-floor structure containing 56 million former service personnel records. Other floors, especially the fifth, suffered water damages, GSA officials said.

The top floor contained records of 20 million Army and Air Force personnel who served before 1960. GSA estimated that about 75 per cent were destroyed or badly damaged.

Priority Low For Grants For Village Sewer Plants

Two Pickaway County communities are well down the list of Ohio's 1974 priorities for the allotment of federal construction grants for municipal water pollution control facilities.

New Holland is 130th and South Bloomfield is 133rd on the list.

It is expected that fewer than one-third of this year's 225 applications will receive construction grant funds according to Gov. John J. Gilligan.

New Holland has applied for a grant of $710,000 for construction of a new treatment plant and interceptor line. South Bloomfield has applied for a grant of $500,000 for construction of a new treatment plant.

The priority list is based upon criteria established by Ohio Environmental Protection Agency. Projects in the state's priority water basins, such as the Scioto River, are given first consideration for funding. Localities with sewer connection bans in effect, with water quality problems affecting public water supplies or recreational areas or which service large regions are also given priority.

Municipalities needing additional financial help to fund the 25 per cent of construction costs not covered by the federal grant may apply for a loan from the Ohio Water Development authority.

Armstrong Backs Measure To Help Avert Energy Crisis

State Senator Harry L. Armstrong (R-Logan) and State Senator Thomas Van Meter (R-Ashland) will introduce a bill designed to aid in averting part of the energy crisis in Ohio.

The measure would allow operators of surface mined minerals whose coal output is less than 16 2-3 per cent of the annual total tonnage of minerals extracted to be exempted from strip mine regulations.

Senator Armstrong emphasized his bill is a temporary solution agreed to by the Division of Forestry and Reclamation. A subcommittee is drafting permanent legislation now which should be ready for consideration in January.

In explaining the reason for his bill, Armstrong said that many operators have to go through a vein of coal to get to their primary minerals of clay, shale, limestone, sand or gravel. Since coal miners must backfill within 90 days and a quarry becomes inoperable after it is backfilled, these operators are just reburying the coal they uncover.

"This is only one of the problems created by applying stripmine regulations to surface-mining," Armstrong said.

Armstrong said he has also taken action to ensure funds for completing the Appalachian Highway.

He has introduced Senate Bill 397 to earmark 50 per cent of the interest earned on the highway obligations fund, and not otherwise appropriated, for the construction of the Appalachian Highway until this highway is completed.

The federal government has allocated $15 million for this program, but Ohio must match the funds to use them. Currently there are 79 miles not even begun of the planned 172 mile system.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You want to be off and away to new scenes, new personalities, new conditions of all sorts. This is excellent if you put all that energy now released under strict control. Drive carefully and do not make bombastic statements. You have much talent now, but organize it wisely.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Partners are acting in a rather peculiar fashion and you want to sever connections, but be patient instead. Tomorrow all will be different. Show you have fine talents. Add a new ally soon.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have work you must do; get at it instead of running out for fun. Take time to rearrange your wardrobe. Use tact and get out of some chore that is really annoying. Evening is excellent for amusements.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to go out for recreation and should take congenials along to really enjoy yourself. Make sure you do not spend beyond your means. Avoid some situation that could lead to trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take time to do whatever will make conditions at home more ideal instead of running out here and there with no definite purpose. Handle that worldly affair, but take kin with you. Get better results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure you drive with utmost care if you have to go out suddenly on some unexpected trip. You are able to comprehend different views now, so do just that and get ahead. Take time to study fashion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle those matters that give you more income, but don't spend money recklessly, or you do not hit when you need it later. Build up your credit by paying bills that are important. Keep cool in the face of any emergency.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You feel dynamic and want to get out and be with others, but if you act too quickly or get in with the wrong people, this could lead to trouble. Study every detail of whatever comes up tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want to go back on promises made, but you had better concentrate on how you would feel under the same circumstances. Then carry through, though belatedly. Investigating what you do not understand is important. Think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Join with friends who act in a rather unusual way but have fine creative ideas. Don't force some wish that you may have, otherwise it is not good. Avoid some situation that could lead to big trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't do something spectacular because you think this will gain the attention of a bigwig, or you really turn this person against you. Show you are loyal, though, and this makes the right impression. Think along pleasant lines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine ideas, but have to explain them to others clearly, instead of being the enigmatical Aquarian. Use a new attitude with people and get better results. This is especially true with associates.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your money situation could lead you to getting into some plan others propose to you that is best avoided now. Be very careful with your funds. Stick to the tried and true and then you find all works out excellently.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those very unusual children who must be taught early to study interests and projects well instead of jumping into anything that comes to his or her attention, and to get into the details thereof carefully. Be sure to encourage this fine child and give much affection. Teach to have the highest types of people around at all times. Early spiritual training is good. Give the best cultural advantages.

Suspect Faces Mental Test

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — A 17-year-old Middletown, Ohio, youth charged in the slaying of his grandmother last week, is now in the Washtenaw County Jail at Ann Arbor awaiting a psychiatric examination. Cheboygan County Prosecutor James Gilbert said the suspect, Bruce Sampson, requested the psychiatric examination, which will be conducted at the University of Michigan Hospital.

Sampson faces an open charge of murder in the death of his grandmother, 78-year-old Rose Sampson.

Gilbert says Sampson waived preliminary examination in Cheboygan County District Court and was bound over to Circuit Court.

The youth's grandmother was found hacked to death at her summer home on Mullet Lake.

School Chief Resigns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clinton E. Tatsch, who founded the Columbus Technical Institute 10 years ago, announced Thursday he is resigning as president Sept. 1 to become director of a system of technical colleges in Connecticut. No successor has been named.

proclamation that he is alive in Hanoi. The billboard informs the motorists that there are more than 1,300 Americans missing in Southeast Asia and implores them to help free them.

"We believe he is alive because his name was seen in an interrogation book in Hanoi by a returned POW who was at the Hanoi Hilton," the man's mother, Sandra Paul, said.

"You do not interrogate a dead body. We feel certain there are many that are alive. We believe they are holding them for bargaining," she said.

And Paul's father, Kenneth Paul, said there is another reason to believe his son is still alive.

"Cuba broadcast a message Dec. 23 which said 'attention Kenneth Paul: the body of your son was found in the wreckage of a B52 that took part in a raid on the city of Hanoi.'

"The message said 'On his body was found a picture of him and his wife, and a card saying in case of any accident please notify Kenneth Paul, 68 Heteralack St., Columbia City.'

"Our address is 86 Meadowlark Lane, Columbus. The only way they could have gotten my name would be from Craig and he gave them the wrong address.

"They couldn't have gotten the name any other way because he left his wallet and dogtags in his room in Guam and they were returned to his wife."

Craig's mother, who is state coordinator of the Ohio Chapter of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, said "There are all kinds of stories like this which we've heard from other families."

"There were several plays on words in the false address he gave them: Heteralack for Meadowlark, 68 for 86, Columbia City for Columbus."

And Craig's younger brother Steve put in, "Also, his name has been heard by two returned POW's in the internal communications system they had—you know, rapping on walls and all that stuff."

Poor Engineering Said Cause Of Failures In Skylab Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An investigative board has blamed poor engineering and a lack of sufficient communication between contractors and the space agency for the shield trouble that almost ruined the first Skylab mission.

The report issued on Thursday said that, because of poor design, air pressure built up inside a tunnel under the shield as the Skylab was being launched May 14. The pressure could not be properly vented, and the paper-thin aluminum shield tore away from the side of the 85-ton station that it encircled.

"When the meteoroid shield was torn loose by the supersonic air stream, it broke the tie-downs which hold one of the two solar array systems on the Skylab workshop," the report said.

"Later, about 10 minutes into the flight, the solar array wing was completely torn away when it was struck by the exhaust plume of the

Minimum Wage Conference Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $2.20 minimum-wage bill that differs only slightly from the House version. But the likelihood of a veto hangs over whatever compromise is reached.

"I'm confident we can reconcile the Senate and House versions and send a bill to the President," Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said Thursday after his bill was passed 64 to 33.

"I trust the President will agree with Congress that in the richest nation on earth, it is simply unconscionable to allow full-time workers to be paid less than a poverty-level income," Williams said.

Predictions of a veto were sounded repeatedly during Senate debate on the bill.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, joined in the forecast Thursday, while expressing support for the measure.

The Senate margin in passing the bill would not be big enough to override a veto.

Both Senate and House versions would gradually raise the $1.60 minimum wage for nonfarm workers

Ashville Dogs Are Graduates

The Ashville Dog Training Club-Youth Division holds its graduation July 12. The 4-H dog club advisor from Circleville, Larry Lane, scored the dogs' performances along with the help of Dr. Shirley Quillen, teacher of youngsters on how to train the dogs, who scored the handling.

The results of the sub-novice class were: Highest Scoring Dog went to Shannon who was trained by Cindy Lockard and Bobo came in second who was trained by Sherry Beale.

The best handler was Kathy Tye showing Shadow, with Cindy Lockard who was second. Miss Lockard was first when the category was Highest Combined Score Dog and Handler with Miss Tye who followed her for second place.

Also graduating were JoEllen Irwin with Laddy, and George Kirk with Pierre. All received certificates of special achievement and diplomas.

and the $1.30 minimum for farm workers to $2.20 an hour.

They differ mainly in extending minimum-wage protection and overtime to certain workers. The House bill would add coverage for about six million workers, compared with about seven million in the Senate version.

Both bills would bring domestic servants under the minimum wage. The House bill would make domestics also eligible for overtime pay.

The Senate voted to extend the minimum wage to about 100,000 seasonal farm laborers and to those who process shade-grown tobacco. The House did not.

The bills differ on allowing employers to pay less than the minimum wage to teen-agers.

Before the final vote, the Senate Thursday refused to eliminate domestics from minimum-wage coverage, and beat back attempts to allow employers to pay teen-agers 15 per cent less than the minimum wage.

The Senate bill would raise the basic $1.60 nonfarm minimum wage to $2 in 60 days and to $2.20 one year later.

Those nonfarm workers first covered in 1966, mainly employees of large retail stores, would get $1.80 in 60 days, $2 a year later and $2.20 in 1975.

Farm workers, now paid a $1.30 minimum, would be raised to $1.60 in 60 days, $1.80 in 1974, $2 in 1975 and $2.20 in 1976.

Suit Asks Orient Land Be Cleared

Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt has filed suit against two couples to restrain them from using their land as a dump.

The action, filed against Carl and Mary V. Ferrin and Charles Roy and Lois Hix, residents of Orient village, is seeking to halt their use of land in the village to throw trash, debris, all types of junk and disabled autos.

In his plea for an injunction, Gerhardt notes that the area is a hazard to the comfort, safety and health of others and offensive to the sight and smell.
